Once upon a time there was a Christmas market...

In the Middle Ages, the "Klausenmärik" (St Nicholas Market) used to be held around the Notre-Dame Cathedral for the three days before 6 December. Stalls of candlemakers, merchants selling gingerbread and other treats were found alongside stalls of herbalists, saddlers, second-hand clothes dealers and haberdashers.

In 1570, as part of the Protestant reform, the Magistrate of Strasbourg abolished the Saint-Nicolas market, which was replaced by the Christkindelsmärik, the Christ Child market. It was held on the three days before Christmas on the Notre-Dame Cathedral square, before expanding to Place du Château and Rue Mercière.

In the 19th century, it ran through what is now Rue du Vieux Marché-aux-Poissons, Rue des Grandes Arcades, to the district of Les Halles. In addition to traditional trades, the Christmas market also offered toys and Christmas trees. The Christkindelsmärik (also known as the Bimbeloterie fair) lasted six days, with an extra day added in 1863, when it took over Place Kléber.

In the beginning, it was combined with an eighteen-day Christmas fair, from 26 December. The two events merged in the second half of the 19th century and Christkindelsmärik then began eight days before Christmas, finishing eighteen days after. During the Reichsland period (1870-1918), it was also held in Place Broglie.

In the early 20th century, the range of goods on sale grew and jewellery, perfumery and Christmas decorations became available. Since 1991, it has returned to Place de la Cathédrale and it now extends throughout the historic city centre, as part of "Strasbourg, Capital of Christmas".

Nowadays, the Christkindelsmärik, one of the oldest Christmas markets in Europe, illustrates the diverse and lively traditions of the Nativity in Alsace.

A Magical Christmas

Snowflakes fall from the sky and the breeze carries the smell of bredele biscuits and mulled wine, a blanket of light covers the streets and guides visitors, choirs are singing out on every street corner, and just like that, there’s magic in the air.

The Christmas Playtime

Day or night, enter a cozy and peaceful world with your family. Away from the hustle and bustle, amazing shows, hands-on workshops and events for children are sure to make for unforgettable moments with your loved ones. Fun and unique times to share with your tribe.

An Alternative Christmas

Experience an alternative Christmas and discover Christmas traditions in an unexpected, quirky way, with the focus on responsible and fair purchases of meaningful products. Not forgetting the range of events to offer: concerts, craft workshops, tastings, talks, etc.

Three Christmas trees for 3 different atmospheres

Once again this year, don’t miss the three Christmas trees on show throughout Strasbourg, Capital of Christmas: the Great Tree in Place Kléber, the symbolic centre of Strasbourg, Capital of Christmas, which fills the city with its energy. A participative Christmas tree that everyone is invited to decorate in Place du marché Gayot; and finally, an alternative Christmas tree with a surprisingly modern touch in Place Grimmeissen.

For extra magic, be there at 5 p.m. every evening to see them light up.

Every day, at 5 p.m., Place Kléber, Place du marché Gayot and Place Grimmeissen.

Christmas music at the heart of the city

Listen carefully and you’ll be surprised to hear a brass band parade, or a few notes of Christmas music drifting over the market. This extra touch of magic is sure to enhance your visit to the city centre, adding to the jovial and authentic atmosphere.

Inaugural evening

In the early evening on 22 November, in partnership with the Vitrines de Strasbourg, the City of Strasbourg invites you to kick off Strasbourg, Capital of Christmas. Experience a magical moment with the lighting-up of the Great Christmas Tree and the streets of Strasbourg.

Stall opening hours

* From 26 December to 30 December, only the stalls in Place de la Cathédrale, Place du Château, Place de la Grande Boucherie, Place du Marché-aux-Poissons, and the street and patio of the Palais Rohan will be open.

* Detailed plan on page 38.
A MAGICAL CHRISTMAS

The Great Christmas Tree

1, 2, 3… play! Erected in the heart of Place Kléber, the Great Christmas Tree is the essential symbol of Strasbourg, Capital of Christmas. This year, its decoration will celebrate the toys of yesteryear. Spectacular and fairylike spinning tops, cars, rocking horses, trains, and many more will decorate the Great Christmas Tree. This festive decor invites you to get together and cast your mind back to your childhood, remembering the precious moments shared with your family, exchanging gifts.

Visit the Great Christmas Tree every day to experience its majestic lights come ablaze and see the wonder of young and old alike. As night falls, the Christmas tree gently awakens with lights and music, and with it, the entire city lights up and comes to life. The sensational finale fills the city with an energy that sets the stage for these few weeks of festivities. Visitors young and old will marvel at the magic of the event, creating unforgettable memories.

See the Great Christmas Tree light up every day at 5 p.m.

Skate in a fairytale land

Whether you are keen to try skating for the first time, warm up after a beautiful stroll through the city, or just have fun with your family or friends, the skating rink is the perfect place! Lace up your skates and dive into a fairylike setting in Place Kléber, at the foot of the Great Christmas Tree.

Every day, from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday to Thursday, from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. Fridays, from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturdays and from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sundays. €5/pers. for a limited time. Skates are provided. Option to rent a helmet for €3 and a game for the ice garden for €3. Gloves available for purchase for €4.

Snowflakes fall from the sky and the breeze carries the smell of bredele biscuits and mulled wine, a blanket of light covers the streets and guides visitors, choirs are singing out on every street corner, and just like that, there’s magic in the air. Stroll through the alleyways at the foot of the Cathedral, Place du Marché-aux-Poissons, or Place Broglie and savour our rich traditions and authentic know-how. An unmissable destination for locals and visitors alike, Place Kléber is home to the Great Christmas Tree and the skating rink, majestic and undeniable symbols of the Christmas festivities.
CHRISTMAS LIGHTS

As Christmas draws closer, Strasbourg dons all its finery. The streets, houses, sides of churches, windows and balconies twinkle with the light of a thousand candles thanks to the swathe of decorations, each more original than the last.

The blue tree

Place Gutenberg is decorated with the famous, 10-metre-high blue tree featuring a blue bear, who children will love!

The giant chandelier

The giant chandelier, with its magical and tasty decorations, is located at the corner of the Grand rue and the rue du Fossé-des-Tanneurs.

A shower of twinkling lights

A ceiling of twinkling lights brings magic to the entire length of the Grand rue, and visitors are welcomed through two illuminated entrances on each side.

The Gate of Lights

Twinkling in gold and white and decorated by 2 giant bears connected by a circle of stars, the magical Gate of Lights invites visitors to Strasbourg, Capital of Christmas, to enter the magic of Christmas.

The giant Christmas baubles

Admire and discover 15 giant Christmas baubles, sparkling in silver and gold, on rue du 22 novembre.

NEW FOR 2019

Twinkling fairytale forest

A forest of 22 giant trees of gold and white lights will bring magic to the Rue de la Mésange.

Walk to the stars

The Quai des Bateliers lights up for Christmas! Offering much more than a pedestrianised street in the city, the decorations of Strasbourg, Capital of Christmas showcase and enhance the rich, historic architectural heritage, with a constellation of over 600 stars, symbols of the unchanging celestial reference points. All areas - land, sea and air, are covered; everything is lit up. Fairylike and romantic, it showcases the elegance of the Saint-Nicolas, Corbeau, and Rohan bridges, the beauty of the Saint-Guillaume and Saint-Nicolas churches, the remarkable architecture of buildings such as the Historical Museum, the Palais Rohan, and the timbered houses.

Stroll under twinkling, illuminated barrels, rue des Tonneliers

22 illuminated and twinkling barrels are hung up high as a nod to the history of the street, where the barrels delivered to the docks were then rolled to the businesses.

The Village of Sharing

Some one hundred support, charity and humanitarian associations invite you to come and meet them, discuss what drives them and share their solidarity actions, from 22 November to 24 December.

This year, the village is hosting:
• 7 service clubs
• 23 support and charity associations, or those working in the social, housing, and integration sectors
• 17 aid associations for disabled, ill, and hospitalised individuals
• 35 humanitarian aid and international sponsorship associations

6 associations are present for the entire duration of the market; others alternate using shared stalls.

See the list of daily attendees on the noel.strasbourg.eu site

The Starry Soup: Chefs taking action for solidarity!
The HUMANIS international solidarity associations collective invites you to discover the 7th edition of “The Starry Soup” in Place Kléber. Like every year, four top chefs will allow visitors to support the Collective to sustain the activities of the Integration Project, as well as to meet the needs of the 96 member associations based in Alsace.

This year, chefs Francis Scordel from the La Carambole restaurant in Schiltigheim, Pascal Bastian from the Le Cheval blanc restaurant in Lembach, Sébastien Buecher from the L’Auberge Frankenbourg restaurant in La Vancelle and Yannick Germain from the Auberge au Bœuf restaurant in Sessenheim will provide their generous contributions.

From 22 November to 24 December, Place Kléber. Information: soupeetoilee.humanis.org

The Solidarity Stall #Aveclesréfugiés

The United Nations Refugee Agency (HCR) and the French inter-ministerial delegation for the acceptance and integration of refugees (DIAR) are present at the Village of Sharing in Strasbourg, Capital of Christmas: refugees and local members of the public will man the “Solidarity Stall”, in response to the “Solidarity Train #Aveclesréfugiés”. This train, organised by the HCR, the DIAR and the SNCF will stop in Strasbourg before continuing to Geneva for the First Global Refugee Forum on 17 and 18 December.

Come and join us to meet and discover the cultures of the world.

From 11 to 14 December, Place Kléber. Contact: schmittc@unhcr.org

Experience Christmas Together

This year, “Vivre Noël Ensemble” [Experience Christmas Together] is offering a festive Christmas (alcohol-free) aperitif, with a musical performance in Place Kléber from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. on 24 December. Organised by the associations of the collective, this welcoming event brings together the people they accommodate and assist throughout the year, but also their volunteers and professionals, for a moment of sharing open to all – passers-by, Strasbourg residents, tourists… A magical moment under the tree, interspersed with music.

“Vivre Noël Ensemble” is a collective of local associations and partners that pool resources, volunteers, and employees in order to organise this Christmas period with a fraternal spirit.

The members of the “Vivre Noël Ensemble” collective: Abribus, Protestant Social Centre, Emmaüs Community, Salvation Army, Memmotive church, Saint-Pierre-le-Vieux protestant church, Entraide le Relais, Escale Saint Vincent, SNCF welcome and solidarity area, Saint William’s Church, Methodist Church.

A MAGICAL CHRISTMAS

Christmas has always carried the values of sharing between all humankind. At a time when winter is setting in and humanity is faced with major challenges, this moment reminds us of the importance of strengthening brotherly spirit, dignity and trust in the future.
The nativity scenes tour
In Alsace, the tradition is for each home to place Baby Jesus in the manger on the night of 24 December, and to leave it under the tree until Candlemas.

Throughout Strasbourg, rediscover the tradition of the nativity scene and admire the numerous wooden, living, or craft nativity scenes set up in private or public areas. Every year, at Christmas, they come back to life to help you relive this birth, a symbol of joy and hope.

The nativity scenes are on show at the Episcopal Palace in Rue Brulée, Strasbourg Cathedral, in the windows of the shops along Rue des Juifs, Place du Château, and Alsatian Museum.

The Ecumenical Live Nativity Scene
An essential symbol during the Christmas period, come and discover a unique addition this year: the live nativity show, which recounts the magic of the night of the Nativity through various performances. Come and see the nativity actors and animals in a warm and friendly atmosphere. By Strasbourg Cathedral and the Temple-Neuf.

The cathedral’s large nativity scene
The Cathedral’s large nativity scene portrays five scenes: the Annunciation, the Nativity, the Adoration of the Magi and the Presentation at the Temple.

Open from Monday to Sunday (except Tuesdays), 10 a.m. - 5 p.m., Place du Château. Free for all ages - Free of charge

Nativity scene shrine at the Alsatian Museum
This nativity scene shrine is exceptional due to its size, composition and excellent preservation. It is part of the tradition of “paradise box” reliquaries made in monasteries in the 18th century, which depicted the Nativity in a setting filled with flowers and animals. In a window display decorated with golden paper, the nativity scene is composed of brightly covered Provençal nativity figures, placed in a setting teeming with paper shapes, depicting plants, clouds, and straw.

It is testament to the devotion to creating nativity scenes, a practice primarily adopted among Catholic families.

Open from Monday to Sunday (except Tuesdays), 10 a.m. - 6 p.m., closed on 25 December and 1 January. Prices: €4.60 (reduced price €3.50), free for under 18s.

The Saint Nicolas courtyard opens its doors
To celebrate Strasbourg, Capital of Christmas, the courtyard of the archbishop’s palace is opening its doors, with a new nickname for the occasion – “Saint Nicolas Courtyard.” It will host chalets offering a variety of options: a nativity scene, the different Advent traditions, a bite to eat, a stall selling monastery products, books, and a place to donate products to the homeless.

Open from Monday to Sunday (except Tuesdays), 10 a.m. - 6 p.m., closed on 25 December and 1 January. Prices: €4.60 (reduced price €3.50), free for under 18s.

Christmas Masses
The Colibris bring the Family Christmas Mass to life, performing scenes from the Nativity.

From 24 December at 5 p.m., at the Notre-Dame Cathedral.

The Colibris of the Christmas Market are organizing the Christmas Mass of the 449th Christmas market.

From 24 December at 5 p.m., at the Notre-Dame Cathedral.

The Notre Dame Choir will perform at the Midnight Mass, preceded by a musical vigil at 9:30 p.m.

From 24 December at 11:30 p.m., at the Notre-Dame Cathedral.

Information: Presbytery of the Notre-Dame Cathedral on +33 (0)3 88 21 43 34 or cathedral-strasbourg.fr

The Saint Nicolas, the patron of school children and boatmen arrives by boat opposite the Palais Rohan, before boarding a horse-drawn carriage in the Palais Rohan courtyard to welcome children from the city centre schools, accompanied by their parents. Nicolas, who is the origin of the Christmas market, will be celebrated by traditional Christmas carols sung by the Colibris choir. And if they’re good, the children will receive delicious mannele, gingerbread, clementines and other treats from Nicolas.

Thursday, 5 December at 5:30 p.m. and 7 p.m., Place du Château. Free of charge.

Spirit of Christmas, by Craftsmen of the World
Exhibition of nativity scenes and ornaments from here, there, and everywhere. For thousands of years, families all over the world have been celebrating the religious festival of Christmas. Putting their skills to use, craftsmen around the world are also very involved in this event. They use their creativity to offer us nativity scenes and ornaments.

From 24 November to 31 December, Monday to Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Sunday from 12 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Saint-Thomas’s Church. For all ages – Free admission.

The Colibris of the Christmas Market are organizing the Christmas Mass of the 449th Christmas market.

From 24 December at 5 p.m., at the Notre-Dame Cathedral.

The Notre Dame Choir will perform at the Midnight Mass, preceded by a musical vigil at 9:30 p.m.

From 24 December at 11:30 p.m., at the Notre-Dame Cathedral.

A MAGICAL CHRISTMAS

* CRAFTSMANSHIP AND TRADITION AT THE HEART OF CHRISTMAS *

For a number of years, Strasbourg has been classed as a "Ville et Métiers d’Art" (Artistic cities and trades) city, as recognition for the preservation, promotion and development of the sometimes-century-old know-how of associations of craftsmen and artisan trades.

Here is a selection of stalls, exhibitions and sales where you can discover artisan know-how.

Stalls

Caroline COURROY — Upholsterer of furniture, revamped Alsatian chairs, cushions, clutches, wallets and drawstring bags to give character and warmth to your interior or your handbag.
- Place Broglie, stall 056

Rêves de Bois — Handmade rocking horses, pull-along toys, puzzles, cars and doll's beds for children.
- Place de la Grande Boucherie, stall 002

Le chalet des Cœurs — Creation of handsewn fabric "hearts" (including Alsatian litchi versions), handmade wooden hearts, with a totally "Christmas" feel.
- Place Broglie, stall 074

Chez Mathilde — Preparation of homemade cakes and drinks: Linzer torte, fresh and organic vegetable soups... A contributor to Strasbourg, Capital of Christmas for 32 years!
- Place des artisans, Place Broglie, stall 075

Danièle DAUGER — Trade coffees and other homemade drinks available to warm you up on a winter evening.
- Place du Marché-aux-Poissons

Dominique MALFAIT — Production of Alsatian and Christmas socks for feet of all sizes.
- Rue des Grandes Arcades

International Glass-Blowing Centre — Heir to the techniques of blowing glass Christmas baubles, in 1999, the Meisenthal International Glass-Blowing Centre launched a "Christmas baubles" editorial policy. Every year, traditional models are joined by contemporary techniques of blowing glass Christmas baubles, designed by creators invited to joust up traditional styles.
- Place du Marché-aux-Poissons

Isabelle DILLENSGER — Household linens (tablecloths, table runners, aprons...), table decorations, to add a touch of Alsace to your home.
- Place du Château

Stéphane JUMEAU — Traditional fish smoked with Goûrmande salt. Salmon, halibut, cod, scallops - there’s something for everyone!
- Place des Marchéants

Thomas PIAZZA — Creation of scented and unscented wax Christmas tree decorations and pretty candles in the image of Strasbourg’s emblematic Notre-Dame Cathedral.
- Place Broglie

Véra WALTER — Family business offering over 850 models of quality pastry-cutters to make unique and authentic Christmas biscuits.
- Brédele market on the patios of the Palais Rohan

Caroline Boeglin and the GNOOSS team are organising a 100% Alsatian pop-up concept store for Christmas.
- Place Broglie. Each week, you will have a chance to discover unique, handmade items at affordable prices, and offer a great opportunity to take a shortcut to your Christmas shopping, with added quality and originality!

With its welcoming atmosphere and large choice of French, handmade items at affordable prices, the OZ trade show is without a doubt one of the best places to find the ideal gift, while maintaining your ethical values!
- From 13 to 25 December, every day, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Aubette room (1st floor), Place Rohan — Free admission. Information: fremaa.com

OZ, The Christmas of artisan trades

The Alsatian federation of crafts (fremaa) showcases the talent and know-how of sixty craftsmen in a pop-up shop full of charm, where those on the hunt for unique items can find a wealth of original handmade gifts. Ceramists to glassmakers, cabinetmakers to jewellers and fashion designers show off their contemporary and bold works thanks to their exceptional know-how and offer a great opportunity to take a shortcut to your Christmas shopping, with added quality and originality!

The Alsatian Christmas Delicacies Market

Bakers from Strasbourg and the region, Coursins d’Or winegrowers, Alsatian foie gras producers, the Tribu des gourmets du vin d’Alsace, and the corporation of craft brewers, have the pleasure of inviting you to discover the traditional products of our region that make Christmas a success: bredele biscuits, foil gras, Alsatian wines, Alsatian mulled red or white wine and Alsatian beers.

A production workshop will be offered to children on Wednesday afternoon from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. (registration with the federation of bakers at +33 (0) 888 15 24 00 or by email: boulangerie.bas-rhin@wanadoo.fr). On the programme: making and tasting bredele, plaits, manneles.
- From 22 November to 30 December, Place du Marché-aux-Poissons

Creators’ market

MOCA — Come and meet Alsatian designers and craftsmen for this fourth edition of the MOCA Christmas market. Jewellery, fashion, decorations, as well as wellbeing are on the programme, with contributions from some twenty designers. Find a unique, handmade gift, or even customise it for yourself.
- From 21 to 22 December, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the FEC, 17 Place Saint-Étienne.

Winter delicacies — Before the ice freezes in stalactites at the end of your nose and the snowdrifts pile up against your door as you sleep, get your skates on and head to the Atelier du Bain aux Plantes! Tucked away in the Petite France district, this is the place of work and exhibition space for a dozen artists. Illustrations, paintings, and no doubt also a few smaller pieces you may be tempted to treat yourself to, there’s good reason to hang around, savouring and celebrating the pleasures of the senses.
- From 22 November to 23 December, Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays, from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Atelier du bain aux plantes, 11 rue du bain aux plantes. Free admission. Information: atelierdbainauxplantes.com

Before the ice freezes in stalactites at the end of your nose and the snowdrifts pile up against your door as you sleep, get your skates on and head to the Atelier du Bain aux Plantes! Tucked away in the Petite France district, this is the place of work and exhibition space for a dozen artists. Illustrations, paintings, and no doubt also a few smaller pieces you may be tempted to treat yourself to, there’s good reason to hang around, savouring and celebrating the pleasures of the senses.
- From 22 November to 23 December, Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays, from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Atelier du bain aux plantes, 11 rue du bain aux plantes. Free admission. Information: atelierdbainauxplantes.com

The craft collectives, unique to Alsace-Moselle, present their know-how in an original and fun way in a dedicated stall in Place Broglie. Each week, you will have a chance to discover different, authentic, and local products and trades (brewers, woodwork, carpet weaving, etc.). In partnership with the Union of Craft Guilds for the Bas-Rhin region and the Alsace Chamber of Trades.
- From 22 November to 24 December, from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m., Place Broglie.

The Alsatian Christmas Delicacies Market

Bakers from Strasbourg and the region, Coursins d’Or winegrowers, Alsatian foie gras producers, the Tribu des gourmets du vin d’Alsace, and the corporation of craft brewers, have the pleasure of inviting you to discover the traditional products of our region that make Christmas a success: bredele biscuits, foie gras, Alsatian wines, Alsatian mulled red or white wine and Alsatian beers.

A production workshop will be offered to children on Wednesday afternoon from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. (registration with the federation of bakers at +33 (0) 888 15 24 00 or by email: boulangerie.bas-rhin@wanadoo.fr). On the programme: making and tasting bredele, plaits, manneles.
- From 22 November to 30 December, Place du Marché-aux-Poissons
This year, Strasbourg is welcoming Lebanon, the birthplace of monotheistic religions. There will be special focus on Byblos, the former Phoenician port which saw the creation of the modern alphabet, and which has now become a city that symbolises diversity.

The famous Place Gutenberg will play host to stalls decked out in the Lebanese colours, ready to welcome visitors in search of a taste of the Middle East. Local craft creations and mezze and other traditional delicacies made from regional products will help you experience the magic of a Lebanese Christmas, at the very heart of the capital of Christmas.

In Lebanon, Christmas is a cultural and religious festival that highlights the desire of the country’s numerous religious communities to live together and demonstrate the values of sharing, peace, and brotherhood. Inherited from a pagan tradition, the Saint Barbara celebrations begin on the evening of 3 December. The little ones and not-so-little ones set off in costumes, going door-to-door, as a reminder of the young “Barbara” the runaway, who wanted to escape the violence of her father, Dioscorus.

At the beginning of the month of Christmas, some Christian families in Lebanon plant wheat, and await the arrival of the first shoots, which symbolise birth and life. As the festival draws near – 25 December according to the Gregorian calendar – Lebanon is decked out in its finery and decorations. The entire country moves to the rhythm of traditional Christmas songs, sung in Arabic, English and French. Christmas day is a holiday for all the religious communities.

The Christmas meal is the highlight of the celebrations. Lebanese come together to generously share a culinary extravaganza that mixes traditional dishes (stuffed vine leaves, chickpea hummus, aubergine puree, beef stew, etc.) with more Western gastronomic creations. At the end of the meal, meghli, made from rice semolina, caraway seeds and cinnamon, and traditionally offered to celebrate births, is the preferred dish, although all desserts and cakes have their rightful place.

In Lebanon, the Christmas celebrations end the day after the nativity festival, which takes place 6 January according to the Eastern Orthodox Julian calendar, and which once again brings the Lebanese together.

Cultural programme

The Fayha Choir comes to Strasbourg

To open the festivities, the Fayha choir from the city of Tripoli will put on a concert entitled “Noël en Orients”, spreading a message of peace and diversity. Like the cultural richness and diversity of Lebanon, this choir brings together singers from 17 religions.

Saturday, 23 November, 8 p.m., at Strasbourg Cathedral.

In Haydn’s Garden, by the Strasbourg Philharmonic Orchestra

With The Creation, Haydn delivers an immense and renowned epic inspired by both the Bible and Paradise Lost by John Milton. Deeply moved by Handel’s oratorios, the composer wanted to tackle the genre, writing: “I spent much time upon it because I want it to last a long time”. Mission accomplished with a work that takes us on an odyssey, starting with the sudden light brought to the formless and empty earth, to Adam and Eve freckling in the Garden of Eden.

Saturday, 19 December, at the Palais de la Musique et des Congrès.

To demonstrate the message of tolerance and humanity championed by Lebanon, the Lebanese Embassy in France, along with several other partners, are offering a rich cultural programme:

• Conference on Lebanon’s rich historic and cultural heritage

Led by experts, historians and scientists, this conference will highlight Lebanon’s religious tourism sector.

• Creative literary and artistic workshops for children

Organised in partnership with a Lebanese publishing house, these workshops will be hosted by children’s authors and illustrators. This original initiative will showcase the children’s talents.

• Discussion on the topic of Lebanon’s academic excellence

This discussion with a number of Lebanese students from schools and universities in Strasbourg will demonstrate the excellence of academic education in Lebanon, as well as the open-minded nature of those who represent the future of our two nations.

Decorate the participative Christmas tree!

Stop off at the Elves’ workshop for a while to help decorate the participative Christmas tree, composed of almost 90 mini-trees which, when brought together, form a majestic Christmas tree, the tree of all the people of Strasbourg! The most skilful visitors can let their imagination run wild and make a Christmas decoration: angels, snowflakes, candy canes, toys of yesteryear... Everyone must then place their work on one of the mini trees, and help make it beautiful. A dive into family tradition that will allow the older visitors to fondly revisit their childhood memories.

From 23 to 24 December, Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays, from 2 p.m. to 6:30 p.m., Place du Marché Gayot.

On your marks, get set... play!

Bring your family to the Elves’ workshop to discover a variety of toys and games, as well as traditional games from all over the world... you will even have the chance to make your own to take home! Make the most of this fun atmosphere to share a lovely experience with your family, and make beautiful memories last forever. A special area will be provided for 0-3-year-olds so they can also join in.

Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, from 4 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., Place du Marché Gayot.

AN ALTERNATIVE CHRISTMAS

The dedicated small alsatian producers

In one of the most secret squares in Strasbourg, Place des Meuniers, local farmers and craftsmen offer local, 100% Alsation products.

For a feast for your eyes and your tastebuds, don’t hesitate to make a trip to this authentic square to discover homemade jams, honey and gingerbread, hot apple juice as well as chocolate in all its forms made from cocoa beans, bredeles (small Alsation Christmas biscuits), mustard and horseradish, flavourful Alsation biodynamic wines, unpasteurised Munster cheese, as well as biodynamic wild garlic pesto, advocaat, and much more.

You could even enjoy a meal, with highlights such as Dampfnudles (small steamed sweet rolls), mushroom tarts, the market gardener’s organic vegetable soup of the day and warm wild garlic pesto and mountain cheese tarts - and why not wash it all down with a mulled beer? Yummmm!! It’s worth the detour.

○ From 22 November to 30 December, Place des Meuniers.

With the “OFF Market” and the dedicated small Alsatian producers, we invite you to invest in Christmas traditions in a different way. It’s an opportunity to experience the Christmas holidays through mindful consumption. Guest country: Lebanon

The Fayha Choir comes to Strasbourg
Mirroring Lebanon’s cultural richness and diversity, the Fayha Choir is composed of around forty members from different cultures, religions and communities.
Founded in 2003, this choir represents a true message of peace and tolerance, with the aim of developing a capella musical heritage and showcasing its richness. 17 religions are represented in the choir.
Involved in several social and humanitarian projects, the reputation of the Fayha choir now extends beyond Lebanon’s borders.

Saturday, 23 November, at Strasbourg Cathedral.
Times available on noel.strasbourg.eu
Christmas concert with the Rhinwagges
With Philippe Hechler conducting, this year, the Rhinwagges will perform new lyrical, classical, or lighter pieces, not forgetting the traditional Christmas carols so dear to our region. Over a number of years they have become masters of this specific Christmas repertoire, and this year, accompanied by the voices of Noëlle Braeuner and Stéphane Wolf, no doubt they will put on a great-quality show for their loyal audience.
30 December at 5 p.m., at the Saint Pierre-Le-Jeune Protestant Church. 21 December at 8 p.m., at Strasbourg Cathedral. Free admission, limited.

Christmas with the Trecanum Ensemble
For a real treat for your ears, don’t miss this concert, featuring Advent Evensong, Gregorian chant, Renaissance polyphony: Dufay, Lassus, Victoria, Palestrina. Concert performed by the Trecanum ensemble.
1 December, at the Saint Madeleine’s Church, Place Sainte-Madeleine. Free admission, limited.

Christmas Concert
The Istituto Italiano di Cultura is organising a concert as a result of a collaboration with the Goethe-Institute of Strasbourg. Two artists, Italian bassist Mario Notaristefano and German organist Andreas Dilles, will perform pieces from classical, baroque and German-Italian repertoire.
13 December at 8 p.m., at the Saint Pierre-Le-Jeune Protestant Church. Free of charge.

The Colibrís sing and dance Christmas
Concert in two parts: the memories of our childhood with cartoon theme tunes in the 1st part and traditional Christmas carols in the second part.

Florestan Quartet “Hymn to the Night”
A portrayal of the nocturnal atmosphere: darkness and mystery, starry sky, dreamlike world and the magic of Christmas through poems, a traditional fairytale and instrumental works by famous composers: Bach, Mozart, Schubert, Bordini, Corelli and Rameau.
Saturday, 14 December at 8.30 p.m., at the Church of the Dominicans - Boulevard de la Victoire. For all ages. Free admission, limited.

Christmas here and elsewhere
Come and sing traditional Christmas carols with us in French, English, and German. Silent Night; He is born, the divine Child; O Christmas Tree; White Christmas; Jingle Bells...
20 December at 2.30 p.m. at the Espace Django, 4 Impasse Kiefer. 20 December at 6 p.m., at the Opéra national du Rhin, Place Broglie. Prices: from €6 to €12. Information: operanationaldurhin.eu

Latin Christmas, navidad latina
To celebrate Christmas in a different way, the children and youngsters of the Les Petits Chanteurs de Strasbourg - Maîtrise de l’OnR choir will take to the stage at the Strasbourg Opera House with a South American repertoire. Christmas is a time when voices and bodies are filled with the heat of the southern hemisphere, when song and dance come together, in the cities, in the mountains and at the coast. Our young singers will explore centuries of traditional Christmas songs, in which local colours meet African influences. They juggle their vernacular language over sounds of joy, which is central to this global festival.
21 December at 11 a.m., at the Opéra national du Rhin de Strasbourg. Place Broglie. Prices: from €6 to €12. Information: operanationaldurhin.eu

There are many concerts to discover all over Strasbourg. Locations, full programmes, and the latest information can be found in the Christmas calendar at noel.strasbourg.eu

Before museums, what was the purpose of paintings?
This project came about from two observations. First of all, at the Museum of Fine Arts, no work was painted for the purpose of being displayed in a museum. In addition, most people are unaware of the original context of the exhibited works. Within its permanent collections, the Museum of Fine Arts is therefore showcasing a few examples that will allow you to understand the original context, i.e. the purpose and the perspective through which work was viewed at the time of its creation. In order to evoke the original context, the utmost attention is paid to the methods of communication.

- Until 20 September 2020. Museum of Fine Arts, Palais Rohan, 2 Place du Château. Open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., closed on Tuesdays. Information: +33 (0) 3 68 98 50 00.

Käthe Kollwitz
“I want to act now”
In partnership with the Käthe Kollwitz Museum in Cologne, the MAMCS is organizing the first French retrospective dedicated to the German artist, Käthe Kollwitz (1867-1945). A witness to the political and social crises of her time and creator of a piece marked by its pacifism, Käthe Kollwitz is depicted here as a versatile artist (etcher, illustrator and sculptor), whose expressive realism influenced her time and beyond. Presenting herself as an involved artist, Käthe Kollwitz used the major drama of her time as inspiration for her work, not hesitating to include personal elements in her art.

- Until 24 February 2020. Hôtel Gallar, Palais Rohan, 1 Place du Château. Open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., closed on Tuesdays. Information: +33 (0) 3 68 98 50 00.

An exceptional donation: paintings, drawings and etchings (16th-19th centuries) from the Poi trey - Ballabio collection
Collated over almost thirty years, Jeannine Poi trey (†) and Marie-Claire Ballabio’s collection includes 17 paintings and 40 drawings and etchings, donated to the museums of the city of Strasbourg in 2019. This collection was collated with passion, taste and knowledge from internationally renowned traders and auction houses. Combining works from European, Italian, Dutch and French schools, the donation, presented for the first time in its entirety, allows the public to discover the Renaissance works of art of the 19th century.

- Until 15 March 2020. Tomi Ungerer Museum - Centre International de l’Illustration Villa Greiner, 2 avenue de la Marseillaise. Open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., closed on Tuesdays. Information: +33 (0) 3 68 98 50 00.

Focus! Photography at Tomi Ungerer
Tomi Ungerer Museum - International Illustration centre
The museum is showcasing a never-before-seen and little-studied form of work by Tomi Ungerer: photography. For the first time, the exhibition demonstrates the illustrator’s close and little-known relationship with this medium, using a large collection of photographs, negatives and Elchkronen from his personal collections, preserved at the museum.
- Until 15 March 2020. Tomi Ungerer Museum - Centre International de l’Illustration Villa Greiner, 2 avenue de la Marseillaise. Open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., closed on Tuesdays. Information: +33 (0) 3 68 98 50 00.

SHOWS

Théâtre Alsacien Strasbourg "Wihnachtsmärel"

Taking to the stage of the Opera House, the Strasbourg Théâtre Alsacien [Alsation Theatre Company] actively helps keep up an Alsation tradition, "Wihnachtsmärel". This Christmas fairytale is a unique performance of poetry in the Alsation dialect. A show for young and old, combining music, dance and theatre. This year, the TAS offers an original text by Joseph Hollerbach, "5 Arm Barnmaisal", inspired by the character of the traditional tale of "Cinderella". Pierre Speng stages the beauty of the tale by using a host of contributory actors in traditional costumes, lively music, folk dances and classic ballet under the direction of Richard Caquelin. The show, performed in Alsation, has French subtitles.

- 23, 24 and 29 December at 3 p.m., and 23, 27 and 28 December at 8 p.m., at the Strasbourg Opera national du Rhin, Place Broglie. For all ages. Information: théâtre-alsacien-strasbourg.fr

Le Krismass Show 2019

This year brings the fourth edition of the Krismass Show, and each time a new show is on offer. A selection of artists served on a tray, with the basic ingredients needed for a successful evening: a pinch of sequins, a few drops of absurdity, a handful of performance and above all, a good dose of humour! Sketches, crazy performances, musical numbers, pranks, fantasy, magic... Everything is possible in the Krismass Show.

- 5, 6, 7, 12, 13, 14, 20, 21 December at 9 p.m., and 25 December at 5 p.m. at the Espace K, 10 Rue du Hohwald. Duration: 1 hr 5 min. 11 years and up. All the details at www.espace-k.com

The Great Christmas Circus on Ice

Stemming from a long-time Russian tradition, the combination of circus and ice will amaze and shock the audience with a fairytale original musical show: "The stars of circus and ice". The skaters of the Christmas circus ballet on ice will accompany you on an extraordinary journey through time and major civilizations. Whether it’s in the shimmering paintings inspired by Czars of Russia, or the futuristic choreography borrowed from musical comedies, for two hours, the ballet will bring you tightrope walkers, acrobats, trapeze artists, and of course clowns!

La Petite France

The Neustadt of Strasbourg is the expansion of the city undertaken at the end of the 19th century, when Alsace belonged to Germany. Construction began in the 1880s and continued until the 1950s, creating a vast area of almost 10,000 new buildings, and tripling the city’s size. In 2017, part of the urban masterpieces present in the Neustadt enabled the UNESCO world heritage site status to be extended to encompass a larger part of Strasbourg.

Le 5° lieu

Le 5° Lieu combines a space to promote cultural events, Un Voyage à Strasbourg exhibition, and the print room [Cabinet des Estampes et des Dessins]. This space is a starting point to discover the city and its cultural offerings. Un Voyage à Strasbourg exhibition offers a tour through historic Strasbourg and the Strasbourg of the future. It is styled as an invitation on a journey to experience Strasbourg - an active, populous city in transformation. Visitors can discover and understand the city through its landscapes, architecture and heritage.

From 7 December, from Tuesday to Saturday, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., Sundays from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Free admission. Information: www.5elieu.strasbourg.eu

Cathedral platform

The platform, which stands at 66 metres, is only accessible by climbing 330 steps. It offers a clear view over the roofs of Strasbourg and thanks to tower viewers, you can make out landmarks such as Petite France, Saint Thomas’ Church, the Ancienne Douane or the European institutions.

New for 2019: Place du Château will host a stall for the Notre-Dame Works Foundation, which organises the funding and conduct of restoration and conservation work on the cathedral. Here, you will find a variety of objects and products (wine, chocolate, statues...) in the image of the building. The proceeds allow this unique French institution to fund the upkeep of the cathedral.

Platform open every day except 25 December and 1 January, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. (last ascent at 5.15 p.m.). Prices: €8 full price, €5 reduced price.

A street-art journey in the station district

Proud of its history, the station district offers great sites for urban art-lovers, and city-lovers in general. This district is a breeding ground for creation, and over the years, it has become a beloved backdrop for many artists to showcase their temporary works: giant frescos, graffiti, collages, stencils... Just a short walk away from Strasbourg, Capital of Christmas, take the time to visit this open-air museum.

From 7 December, from Tuesday to Saturday, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., Sundays from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Free admission. Information: www.5elieu.strasbourg.eu

Château Musée Vodou [Voodoo Museum]

A unique and surprising place, the Vodou Museum is home to the world’s largest collection of voodoo objects from Western Africa. In a setting as surprising as it is unique, visitors are invited to discover a culture and life philosophy which is little-known and yet still widely practiced.

From 30 November to 22 December. At the CEAAC, La Chaufferie – HEAR gallery, COOP garage – Accélérateur de particules. More information on www.regionale.org

Regionale 20

A true end-of-year artistic event, Regionale is the only cross-border collaboration event between some twenty contemporary art locations across the Rhine area. It brings together around one hundred and twenty artists from the local scene, offering the ideal opportunity to discover the region’s contemporary creations.

In 2019, to celebrate 10 years in the European capital, the event takes the form of three collective exhibitions, bringing together Swiss, German and French artists.

From 50 November to 22 December. At the CEAAC, La Chaufferie – HEAR gallery, COOP garage – Accélérateur de particules. More information on www.regionale.org
